Appendix A – JF Cook School

I. Community Input

On January 12, 2012 the District by and through the Department of General Services held a public hearing on the surplus designation of the JF Cook and Langston Schools. The results of that hearing are below:

1. There were no objections to the surplus designation.
2. The community felt strongly that there should be a development/ revitalization of both sites. Possibly with a commercial component.
3. The community was against any social service use of the either school.
4. There was a desire by some members of the community for art studio space.
