Additional Clarifications on Security Allowance and Car Rack Foundation

Question/Clarification Request	Department Response
The security allowance is intended to cover site security as in C.3.3.2- more or less to cover security guards and watchmen. Per addendum 6, this allowance will also be used to include items that are not present in the drawings. Is that correct?	No Security Guards and Watchmen are not required for this project. Yes, Security allowance is to cover items not in drawings, for example security cameras and camera installation.
Regarding the car rack foundations, the details in the drawings that were generated by the structural engineer are diagrammatic and not for construction. Should the details change during the submittal process, they will be considered a change order. Is that correct?	Should details change from drawings, Yes will issue Change Order.
